Requesting a review of your solicitor's bill

If you are unhappy with your solicitor's bill, you should first discuss the matter with your solicitor. If you are unable to resolve the issues you can:

- ask the Legal Services Commissioner to review the bill
- or
- start a proceeding in the Supreme Court of Victoria requesting the Costs Court to review the bill.

Time limits and restrictions apply to reviews conducted by the Legal Services Commissioner and Costs Court.

Costs Court reviews are managed in accordance with the:

- Legal Profession Uniform Law Application Act 2014, Part 4.3, if you first instructed your solicitor on or after 1 July 2015

or

- Legal Profession Act 2004, Parts 3.4 and 4.2, if you first instructed your solicitor between 12 December 2005 and 30 June 2015.

If you first instructed your solicitor before 12 December 2005, contact the Self-represented Litigant Coordinator to discuss your situation.

The Supreme Court has two main parts: Trial Division and Court of Appeal. Costs Court is part of the Trial Division.

What the Costs Court can order

The Costs Court may order the solicitor to reduce the bill if it decides the costs:

- were not reasonably incurred
- or
- are not reasonable and proportionate to how complex or important the legal issue was that led to the bill.

The process of this assessment or review by the Costs Court is called taxation.

* Be aware – Your lawyer may start a proceeding in the Costs Court, or sue you in another court, if you do not pay your bill on time. Seek legal advice if you are not sure about paying your bill.

Reviews handled by the Legal Services Commissioner

If you first instructed your solicitor on or after 1 July 2015, you can ask the Legal Services Commissioner to review your bill if the:

- total bill is less than $100,000

or

- the bill is more than $100,000 but the amount in dispute is less than $10,000.

If you first instructed your solicitor between 12 December 2005 and 30 June 2015, you can ask the Legal Services Commissioner to review your bill if the total bill is less than $25,000.

Strict time limits apply. Contact the Commissioner's office on 1300 796 344 or visit their website lsbc.vic.gov.au for details.

Reviews handled by the Costs Court

If you first instructed your solicitor on or after 1 July 2015, you can apply to have the Costs Court review your bill if:

- you are out of time to apply to the Legal Services Commissioner

or

- your total bill is $100,000 or more (making you ineligible to apply to the Legal Services Commissioner).

You can apply to the Cost Court for a review even if the amount in dispute is less than $100,000. Part 4.3 of the Legal Profession Uniform Law Application Act 2014 applies in this situation.

If you first instructed your solicitor between 12 December 2005 and 30 June 2015, you can apply to have the Costs Court review your bill if you:

- are out of time to apply to the Legal Services Commissioner

or

- your total bill is $25,000 or more (making you ineligible to apply to the Legal Services Commissioner for a review)

or

- your total bill is less than $25,000 and you prefer the Costs Court to review your bill.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Legal word

Taxation – the process of the Costs Court reviewing and assessing your solicitor's bill.

Stages in the review process

Getting a review of a solicitor's bill through the Costs Court usually goes through these stages:

STAGE 1	File a Summons for Taxation form
STAGE 2	Serve your documents on the solicitor
STAGE 3	Attend the callover
STAGE 4	Attend the mediation, if ordered
STAGE 5	Attend the taxation hearing

The Cost Court often orders parties to attend a mediation – a confidential discussion held between parties with the help of a skilled independent mediator.

The mediator cannot force anyone to resolve a dispute, but can help parties explore options and negotiate and reach a settlement agreement, without the need for a hearing. The Court may order parties to go to mediation at any stage of the process.

Time limits

If you first instructed a solicitor to act on your behalf in a legal matter after 12 December 2005, you have 12 months from the date you received your final solicitor's bill to apply for a Costs Court review.

You may have received a number of bills over the course of your solicitor's engagement. However, only the date on the final bill is relevant to the time limits.

Requesting an extension of the time limit

If more than 12 months have passed since you received your final bill, and you first instructed your solicitor after 12 December 2005, you can make an application to the Court to extend the time.

The Court will consider the reason for the delay and if it is just and fair to accept your late application. A fee may be required, unless you have a fee waiver.

The extension of time application must be accompanied by an affidavit you prepare that outlines the reasons why you are applying late, and why it is just and fair to extend the time limit.

Contact the Self-represented Litigant Coordinator if you need to discuss your situation.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Legal word

Taxation – the process of the Costs Court reviewing and assessing your solicitor's bill.

Applicant – a person or company who makes an application to the Court, sometimes called the plaintiff.

Respondent – an individual or company that an application is made against.

Filing a document – giving it to the Registry where it officially becomes part of the Court file. You do this using the online system RedCrest. More details on using RedCrest appear later in this guide.

Serving a document – formally delivering it to a person or company. There are rules about which documents need to be served in person and which can also be served by email or post. See order 6 of the Supreme Court (General Civil Procedure) Rules 2015.

Callover – a short hearing to decide matters that include the timing of the proceeding, such as who needs to do what and by when. It is a chance for the judicial officer to hear from the parties and decide whether the case is suitable for mediation or goes directly to a taxation hearing. All parties are expected to attend.

What it means to represent yourself

Representing yourself in court means you take responsibility for the tasks that a lawyer would otherwise do for you.

People who represent themselves in the court are known as self-represented litigants.

In the Trial Division of the Supreme Court, individuals are allowed to represent themselves. Companies must be represented by a lawyer. If you are the sole director of a company and you wish to represent your company, you must get the Court's permission. Contact the Self-represented Litigant Coordinator if you need to discuss your situation.

Some things you may need to do yourself include:

- become familiar with legal language and legal concepts
- read and understand relevant legislation, rules of procedure and case law
- prepare your case
- gather relevant documents that support your case
- present your case to the judicial officer, explaining each of your arguments and answering questions about them from the judicial officer, the other party or their lawyer
- understand and follow the correct court procedures.

The Court prefers any documents you prepare to be typed, not handwritten. You rely on these documents during your proceeding. If they read well and look professional it may help everyone involved get a better understanding of the case you are making.

Using the online RedCrest system

The Supreme Court uses an online system called RedCrest (redcrest.com.au), which you use to file your documents.

You need an email address to create a RedCrest account. If you do not have an email address and cannot get one, contact the Self-represented Litigant Coordinator to discuss your situation.

You will be notified in RedCrest when any documents you file are ready for you to serve with the Court's seal (official stamp) on them. The notification will include a link to where you can download and print copies.

Read the RedCrest Electronic Filing User Guide for information and instructions. If you have questions about using RedCrest, contact the Principal Registry (redcrest.com.au).

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Who can help me?

Registry

Registry staff can provide information on how the review process works.

Self-represented Litigant Coordinator

The Supreme Court has a Self-represented Litigant Coordinator who specialises in helping people who do not have a lawyer. They can give information and guidance on Court procedures, but are not allowed to give legal advice. You can make an appointment with the Coordinator to discuss Court process and to check you have the right documents. See page 2 for contact details.

Free and low-cost legal help

See the Appendix for a link to organisations that provide free or low-cost legal services and information.

Court fees and costs

Legal proceedings in the Supreme Court can be very expensive.

You need to pay court fees at different stages unless you have a fee waiver (see below).

After conducting a review, if the Costs Court reduces your solicitor's bill by 15 per cent or more, then it may order the solicitor to pay your costs. If your solicitor's bill is not reduced by this amount, the Costs Court may order you to pay your solicitor's costs.

* Be aware – these costs can be substantial.

Consider paying for some legal advice even if it is only to help you with a particular part of the process.

See the Appendix for a link to organisations that provide legal information and free or low-cost legal services.

Court fees

You need to pay court fees at various stages of your proceeding, using PayPal, a credit card or debit card. See the fees table on our website called Prothonotary's Office Fees, under the Fees tab.

You may need to pay court fees for:

- Commencing a proceeding outside the time limit
- Mediation
- Setting down (confirming a date) for the hearing
- Hearing (per day or part day).

If you have questions about what fees apply, contact the Self-represented Litigant Coordinator.

Fee waivers and concession rates

You may be eligible for a fee waiver if you can prove that paying the fees would cause you financial hardship. In some circumstances, you may be automatically entitled to a fee waiver. However, you must still apply for it. This includes if you are:

- represented by Legal Aid, a community legal centre or under a pro bono scheme administered by or on behalf of the Victorian Bar, the Law Institute of Victoria or Justice Connect
- serving a prison sentence or are in a detention facility
- under 18 years of age.

See Important Information box for more details.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

! Note

You pay fees online in RedCrest, using:

- PayPal
- credit card, or
- debit card.

Fees normally change on 1 July each year.

! Note

If you have a Commonwealth Health Care Card, you can apply to pay the concession rate. This is the only type of concession card the Court accepts. If you do not have this card, and do not have a fee waiver, you pay the standard fee.

Read the RedCrest Electronic Filing User Guide for instructions on how to apply for a fee waiver or pay the concession rate. If you have questions about using RedCrest, contact the Principal Registry.

💡 Tip

The Law Institute of Victoria has a free referral service that helps you find a private lawyer. See the Appendix for a link to organisations that provide legal information and free or low-cost legal services.

📖 Legal word

Costs – fees for lawyers' professional services and disbursements (out-of-pocket expenses), such as court fees, fees for expert reports, medical reports and photocopying. If you are representing yourself and you win, you can claim your out-of-pocket expenses but you cannot claim the time you spent working on your case as a cost.

Fee waiver – permission from the Court to not pay the court fees.

Financial hardship – decided after taking into account your day-to-day living expenses, liabilities and assets.

Preparing for your review

Get to know legal terms

See the Important Information box for common legal words and terms.

Get to know Court procedures

Read the following documents carefully, as they provide important information and guidance.

- Supreme Court (General Civil Procedure) Rules 2015
- Supreme Court Act 1986 – Section 17D
- Legal Profession Act 2004, Parts 3.4 and 4.2

or

- Legal Profession Uniform Law Application Act 2014 (Part 4.3)
- Practice Note SC Gen 11 – Costs Court

Do your legal research

Make sure you understand the law that applies to your case by doing some legal research. Read about cases similar to yours, and note any cases where the law you are relying on has been applied in a way that you think proves your arguments.

Understand what the Costs Court can order

After conducting a review, if the Costs Court reduces your solicitor's bill by 15 per cent or more, then it may order the solicitor to pay your costs. If your solicitor's bill is not reduced by this amount, the Costs Court may order you to pay your solicitor's costs.

* Be aware – these costs can be substantial.

Decide if you need legal help

The law in relation to cost matters is complex and technical. It is recommended that you seek legal advice from another lawyer or a cost consultant. The Law Institute of Victoria has a free referral service to help you find one. See the Appendix for a link to organisations that provide legal information and free or low-cost legal services.

Tip

See the Appendix for links to forms, legislation and resources you may find helpful.

Legal word

Applicant – a person or company who makes an application to the Court, sometimes called the plaintiff.

Respondent – an individual or company that an application or appeal is made against.

Filing a document – giving it to the Registry where it officially becomes part of the Court file. You do this using RedCrest.

Serving a document – formally delivering it to a person or company. There are rules about which documents need to be served in person and which can also be served by email or post. See order 6 of the Supreme Court (General Civil Procedure) Rules 2015.

Practice note – a document that details Supreme Court procedures, instructions, rules, processes and information. As well as general practice notes that apply to all Supreme Court proceedings, some lists have their own practice notes with specific information for their list.

Taxation – the process of the Costs Court reviewing and assessing your solicitor's bill.

Callover – a short hearing to decide matters that include the timing of the proceeding, such as who needs to do what and by when. It is a chance for the judicial officer to hear from the parties and decide whether the case is suitable for mediation or goes directly to a taxation hearing. All parties are expected to attend.

To start the process:

- Complete a Summons for Taxation form
- File a copy of the form in RedCrest
- File a copy of the solicitor's bill(s)
- Wait for a notification in RedCrest that the Summons for Taxation form has been accepted – it will now have the Court's seal (official stamp) on it.

You can file either a lump sum bill (total bill) or itemised bill.

The sealed form has a date for the first hearing, called a callover. It can be downloaded and printed ready for service in Stage 2.

Ask your solicitor for an itemised bill

You need an itemised bill for the review process. An itemised bill shows what you were charged for each item or task the solicitor did.

In some instances, the bills a solicitor sends you may have enough details to conduct the review.

Do not delay filing your Summons for Taxation form if you do not have an itemised bill yet.

You have 30 days, from the date the most recent bill was due for payment, to request an itemised bill. The solicitor must provide one within 21 days of your request.

If more than 30 days have passed, at the callover the Court can order the solicitor to give you an itemised bill.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

! Note

The Court expects the applicant and respondent to attend any hearing it schedules. If you cannot attend for any substantial reason, for example if you have a medical emergency, contact the Court immediately.

💡 Tip

See the Appendix for links to the forms you need.

Checklist - STAGE 1

- Complete a Summons for Taxation form
- File a copy of the form on RedCrest
- File a copy of the solicitor's bill (either lump sum or itemised)
- Wait for a RedCrest notification that the form has been accepted – it will now have the Court's seal on it and a date for the first hearing
- Download and print a copy, ready for service in Stage 2

Who to serve

You serve the solicitor whose bill is being reviewed.

What documents to serve

Serve the:

- Summons for Taxation form with the Court's seal on it
- copy of the solicitor's bill(s).

When to serve documents

Serve the documents as soon as you are notified in RedCrest that the sealed copy of the Summons for Taxation form is available.

Do not delay serving the documents. They are how the solicitor knows you are disputing the charges on their bill and the date they need to attend Court for the callover. The Court may reschedule your callover if you have not given the solicitor enough notice of the date.

How to serve documents

You, or someone acting on your behalf, must serve documents on the solicitor in person. This means you:

- leave a copy of the document with the solicitor at their office
- or
- if the solicitor does not accept the copy or refuses to see you, put it down near the solicitor or a staff member (such as a receptionist) and tell them the nature of the document.

The Court may ask you to swear or affirm an affidavit proving that you served the documents.

If you have any questions about serving documents contact the Self-represented Litigant Coordinator.

Legal word

Serving a document – formally delivering it to a person or company. There are rules about which documents need to be served in person and which can also be served by email or post. See order 6 of the Supreme Court (General Civil Procedure) Rules 2015.

Tip

Although the documents must be served in person, you don't need to do this yourself. You can ask a friend, family member or a professional to serve the documents for you. They must be prepared to sign an affidavit confirming they served the documents, if the Court requests this.

Affidavit – a document that presents written evidence in a court case. It must be sworn to be true and correct in front of an authorised person, on oath or by affirmation. It is a serious crime to knowingly make a false statement.

Checklist - STAGE 2

Serve the Summons for Taxation form and the solicitor's bill(s) on the solicitor

When the Court accepted your Summons for Taxation form in Stage 1, it gave you a date for the first hearing of your proceeding. This first hearing is known as a callover.

The callover is a short hearing to decide matters of timing and whether the case is suitable for mediation. The judicial officer may decide the case should go straight to a taxation hearing, without mediation.

Prepare for the callover

Callovers are held on a set date each month. The dates are on our website. Check your sealed Summons for Taxation form for the date and venue of your callover.

Dates are allocated in order of when the Summons for Taxation forms are accepted. A large number of matters may be listed for the same day. You need to wait for your matter to be called on the day.

The callover is not when you present your arguments to the Court. You will get a chance to do this at the mediation or taxation hearing.

After the callover

After your callover, the judicial officer will make orders that tell you what happens next and what you need to do to get your case ready for the review. This includes which documents to prepare and when they need to be filed with the Court.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

! Note

The Court expects the applicant and respondent to attend the callover and any other hearing it schedules. If you cannot attend for any substantial reason, for example if you have a medical emergency, contact the Court immediately.

💡 Tip

You only need to bring to the callover the documents you filed in Stage 1, something to make notes on such as a notepad, tablet or laptop and your diary (so you can check if dates proposed for the mediation or taxation hearing are suitable).

📖 Legal word

Callover – a short hearing to decide matters that include the timing of the proceeding, such as who needs to do what and by when. It is a chance for the judicial officer to hear from the parties and decide whether the case is suitable for mediation or goes directly to a taxation hearing.

Serving a document – formally delivering it to a person or company. There are rules about which documents need to be served in person and which can also be served by email or post. See order 6 of the Supreme Court (General Civil Procedure) Rules 2015.

Checklist - STAGE 3

- Check your Summons for Taxation for the date and venue of your callover
- Attend the callover

At the callover in Stage 3, the judicial officer will decide if your case goes to mediation or a taxation hearing.

If your case is going straight to a taxation hearing you can skip this step. Usually, if one of the parties is self-represented the case goes straight to a taxation hearing.

A mediation is a confidential discussion held between parties with the help of a skilled independent mediator. The mediator cannot force anyone to resolve a dispute, but can help parties explore options and negotiate and reach a settlement agreement, without the need for a hearing. The Court may order parties to go to mediation at any stage of the process.

Disputing specific items on an itemised bill

If you are disputing specific items on an itemised bill, you must file a document in RedCrest that identifies each item you want to dispute. This is called your 'Notice of objections'.

File this document at least seven days before the mediation.

For each item, set out the grounds (reasons) that you object to the amount you were charged on the bill. Be specific and concise when explaining why you object to the amount. You must serve this document on the solicitor and anyone else named on the Summons for Taxation form.

After the mediation

If your case settles at the mediation, the judicial officer will send you orders that confirm what was agreed between you and your solicitor. The case now comes to an end. See Stage 5 for details on who to appeal to if you are not happy with the decision.

If your case does not settle (remains unresolved), the Court will usually order you and your solicitor to attend a taxation hearing at a later date.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Watch the video

If your case is not settled at a mediation and you are ordered to attend a taxation hearing, watch the videos on our website to help you prepare:

- Preparing for a hearing
- Attending Court - the day of your hearing

Checklist - STAGE 4

If you are disputing items on an itemised bill, at least seven days before the mediation, file a Notice of objections.

Serve your Notice of objections on the solicitor and anyone else named on the Summons for Taxation form

Attend the mediation, if one is scheduled

You may be ordered to attend a taxation hearing after the callover, or after a mediation (Stage 4) if your case did not settle. The taxation hearing is where you present your arguments to the Court.

Disputing specific items on an itemised bill

If you are disputing specific items on an itemised bill, you must file a document in RedCrest that identifies each item you want to dispute (if you have not done this already as part of Stage 4). This is called your 'Notice of objections'.

File this document at least seven days before the taxation hearing.

For each item, set out the grounds (reasons) that you object to the amount you were charged on the bill. Be specific and concise when explaining why you object to the amount. You must serve this document on the solicitor and anyone else named on the Summons for Taxation form.

Preparing for your taxation hearing

Some things you can do to prepare for your taxation hearing include:

- Watch the videos on our website about preparing for a hearing and attending court (see Important Information box)
- Make sure you are familiar with all the information and material the solicitor sent you during the time you engaged their services, in case they are referred to during the hearing
- If disputing specific items, bring to the hearing copies of the emails, letters or other materials that relate to the items
- Prepare to present your arguments to the Court
- Read any relevant rules and legislation, for example, order 63 of the Supreme Court (General Civil Procedure) Rules 2015.

Checklist - STAGE 5

If you are disputing items on an itemised bill, at least seven days before the taxation hearing file a Notice of objections (if you haven't done this already as part of Stage 4)

Serve your Notice of objections on the solicitor and anyone else named on the Summons for Taxation form (if you haven't done this already)

Attend the taxation hearing

If you are unhappy with the decision

You usually get your decision at the hearing. If you are unhappy with the decision, you have 14 days to request a review.

Who reviews the decision depends on who conducted the review of your solicitor's bill. See below table.
