I, Andrew John Watson, Solicitor, of Level 21, 380 La Trobe Street, Melbourne in the State of Victoria, make oath and say as follows:

1. I am a Principal in the firm of Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd (Maurice Blackburn), the solicitors for the Plaintiff in this proceeding and pursuant to the Orders of this Court dated 23 December 2014 I am the Scheme Administrator in this proceeding.

2. I make this affidavit from my own knowledge unless otherwise stated. Where statements are not made from my own knowledge, they are made to the best of my information and belief after due enquiry and I have set out the source of my information.
3. Exhibited and marked “AJW-1” is a bundle of documents referred to in this affidavit. Exhibited and marked “AJW-2” is a confidential exhibit. Any reference to material exhibited to this affidavit will be by reference to the page number.
4. I make this affidavit for the purpose of providing the Court with an update on:
 - (a) the progress made in relation to the personal injury and dependency (“I-D”) settlement distribution;
 - (b) the progress made in relation to the economic loss and property damage (“ELPD”) settlement distribution;
 - (c) communications with claimants;
 - (d) amounts set aside for contingency;
 - (e) residual distribution sum amounts;
 - (f) taxation issues affecting the Distribution Sum; and
 - (g) the settlement administration costs.
5. The team of lawyers, paralegals and legal assistants employed by Maurice Blackburn who are working on the administration of the Settlement Distribution Scheme (Scheme) are referred to in this affidavit as the SDS Team.
6. All references to the affidavit of Andrew J Watson sworn on 1 March 2018 will be marked as the March 2018 affidavit.

PROGRESS IN RELATION TO I-D SETTLEMENT DISTRIBUTION

7. All I-D claimants have received their compensation and presented their cheques.

PROGRESS IN RELATION TO ELPD SETTLEMENT DISTRIBUTION

Remaining distributions

8. There are 3,092 above-insurance claimants entitled to receive compensation in the ELPD settlement distribution. At the time of swearing the March 2018 affidavit, there were 37 ELPD payments which remained to be processed by the SDS Team and the total combined value of the claims not yet paid was $223,263.57.

9. Since then, all but three of those claims have been resolved. The outstanding claims include:
 - (a) Two claimants who share a loss address and have not returned statutory declarations confirming their instructions as to the allocation split of the assessed losses, despite multiple attempts to follow up by the SDS Team; and
 - (b) A claimant that is a deceased estate of an individual who died intestate, where the Scheme Administrator has made reasonable efforts to track down and deal with potential beneficiaries, but no resolution has been able to be reached as to the distribution of compensation.
10. In both cases, the claimants, or in the case of the deceased estate, one of the beneficiaries, were warned that not taking steps to deal with the SDS Team could result in their losing the entitlement to claim compensation they might be entitled to.
11. The combined value of these three claims is $2,795.23. Given the relatively small values of the claims and the fact that the SDS Team have made reasonable attempts to follow up with these claimants, subject to the Court taking a contrary view I propose to treat the abovementioned amount as residual funds to be absorbed back into the general pool of monies in the settlement distribution fund.

Unpresented cheques

12. There are five cheques which were not presented after 12 months. The SDS Team had earlier warned those respective claimants that their cheques would be cancelled if they remained unpresented.
13. The combined value of those cheques was $501.09 and subject to the Court taking a contrary view I propose to treat that amount as residual funds to be absorbed back into the general pool of monies in the settlement distribution fund.

Direction from the Court regarding unclaimed monies

14. I refer to paragraphs 15 to 21 of the March 2018 affidavit and note that no express power exists under the Scheme to cancel the entitlement of claimants who have either not taken steps to give Maurice Blackburn the necessary instructions to receive their compensation, or who have not presented their cheques (together, unclaimed monies).

15. I also refer to Clause J1 of the Scheme and seek a direction by way of order of the Court that:
- (a) $3,296.32 in unclaimed monies be absorbed back into the general pool of monies in the settlement distribution fund and the entitlements of the claimants referred to at paragraphs 8 – 12 be cancelled.

COMMUNICATIONS WITH CLAIMANTS

Correspondence

16. Since the March 2018 affidavit, the only substantive aspect of the Scheme which has progressed has been the dispute with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). The SDS Team have sent correspondence to group members who received compensation in the proceeding to keep them updated on the taxation dispute on the following dates:
- (a) 13 April 2018;
 - (b) 29 June 2018;
 - (c) 3 December 2018;
 - (d) 1 March 2019;
 - (e) 18 March 2019;
 - (f) 29 May 2020;
 - (g) 7 August 2020; and
 - (h) 30 October 2020.

The template correspondence sent to group members since the March 2018 affidavit is at pages 16 to 29 of this affidavit.

Final Report

17. I caused to be prepared a document referred to as the Final Report into the Kilmore-East Kinglake and Murrindindi-Marysville Black Saturday Class Action Settlement

Administrations (Final Report) and filed that document with the Court by my affidavit dated 23 November 2018.

18. Costs reports prepared by the Australian Law Cost Group (ALCG) referred to in the Final Report were also provided to the Court by the following affidavits filed in this matter:
 - (a) Affidavit of Fiona Elizabeth Mullen dated 7 September 2017; and
 - (b) Affidavit of Catherine Mary Dealehr dated 7 September 2017.
19. A description of the Final Report and directions as to where it can be accessed were provided to group members in the group member update letter dated 3 December 2018.
20. The costs of the preparation of the Final Report, including the costs of the Deloitte Report and the ALCG Report, were borne entirely by Maurice Blackburn and have not been passed on to group members in either of the Kilmore-East Kinglake or Murrindindi bushfire class actions.

Enquiries from group members

21. The SDS Team is continuing to respond to written and telephone enquiries from group members regarding various aspects of the settlement distribution process, their compensation and the ongoing taxation dispute.

CONTINGENCY FUNDS

22. I refer to:
 - (a) paragraph 70 of my affidavit dated 28 February 2017 (February 2017 affidavit);
 - (b) the Transcript of Proceedings, Matthews v Ausnet Pty Ltd & Ors (Supreme Court of Victoria, S CI 2009 4788, J Forrest J, 30 March 2017, 30 March 2017), from 29, [25]; and
 - (c) Matthews v Ausnet Pty Ltd & Ors (Ruling No. 45) [2017] VSC [35] – [36].
23. I note that an amount of $750,000.00 was set aside from the amount distributed at first instance, in contingency of any errors in the pro-rata calculation.
24. Maurice Blackburn has not made a call on the contingency funds to date.

Data error in calculation of pro-rate entitlement

25. I refer to paragraphs 18 to 29 of the February 2017 affidavit and note that due to a data error in the I-D pro-rata calculation one claimant was not paid $521,395.11 in the distribution to ID claimants. In order to ensure the claimant was properly compensated I instructed Maurice Blackburn's finance team to pay that claimant the sum of $521,935 from Maurice Blackburn's office account.
26. I refer in particular to paragraph 28 of the February 2017 affidavit which foreshadowed an application to seek permission to apply some or all of the contingency funds towards the payment of the I-D claim paid out of Maurice Blackburn's office account.

Claimant not assessed

27. I refer to:
- (a) paragraphs 30 to 34 of the February 2017 affidavit;
 - (b) paragraph 5 of my affidavit of 25 May 2017; and
 - (c) paragraphs 7 to 9 of the March 2018 affidavit.
28. As detailed in those paragraphs one ID claimant did not have their claim assessed prior to the ID distribution. When this was drawn to my attention their claim was subsequently assessed. Again in order to ensure that claimant received their compensation they were paid $48,597.80 on 17 August 2017 from Maurice Blackburn's office account.

Payment sought from contingency fund for payments made from Maurice Blackburn office account

29. Given the above, a total of $570,532.91 has been paid directly from Maurice Blackburn's office account, rather than from the Scheme, to remedy errors in the I-D claimant pro-rata calculation.
30. Those payments were made from Maurice Blackburn's office account to ensure that the payments in question could occur as quickly and conveniently as possible.
31. The effect of the errors in the I-D claimant pro-rata calculation resulted in I-D claimants being overpaid at a rate of approximately 0.35%.

32. The contingency was set aside from the ELPD distribution sum but in the circumstances I believe it is fair and reasonable to apply a portion of the ELPD contingency towards rectifying errors arising from the calculation and distribution processes relating to I-D claims. I consider that to be a reasonable course in circumstances that:
- (a) The vast majority of I-D claimants are also ELPD claimants;
 - (b) The vast majority of ELPD claimants are also I-D claimants; and
 - (c) Once account is taken of the overlap between the two claimant groups the split as between I-D and ELPD funds of 3/8^{ths} and 5/8^{ths} which was mandated by clause B1.1 of the Settlement Distribution Scheme is not materially altered.

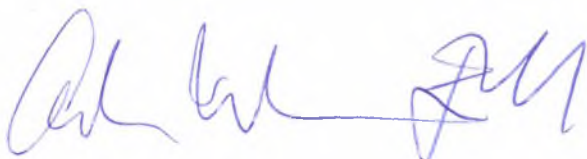

RESIDUAL DISTRIBUTION SUM AMOUNTS

33. In my March 2018 affidavit at paragraphs 26 to 35, I deposed that a residual sum of $828,377.82 existed in the distribution sum (having set aside amounts for the taxation dispute and the potential taxation liability) which comprised of:
- (a) $750,000.00 set aside in contingency;
 - (b) $68,160 of interest which was not distributed;
 - (c) $10,210.70 arising from an entitlement deduction after a review assessment; and
 - (d) $7.12 arising from a claimant who instructed the SDS Team to rescind their entitlement to claim compensation.
34. I refer to paragraphs 8 and 14 of this affidavit. If the Court is content to allow the amounts of $2,795.23 and $501.09 to be absorbed back into the distribution sum, a further $3,296.32 will be held in residue.
35. I refer to paragraphs 21 to 31 of this affidavit and note that Maurice Blackburn seeks to be reimbursed from the contingency funds in the amount it expended to rectify errors in the I-D claimant pro-rata calculation, being $570,532.91.

TAXATION ISSUES

36. I refer to paragraphs 48 to 51 of the March 2018 affidavit and to Confidential Exhibit AJW-8 to that affidavit. I and other members of the SDS Team continued to work closely with our legal advisors PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) and counsel on the taxation issues relating to the settlement administration until the matter was concluded on 14 October 2020.
37. Now produced and shown to me marked "Confidential Exhibit AJW-2" is a confidential note regarding the taxation issues and the steps taken since the March 2018 affidavit. I make an application for this exhibit to be confidential so as to ensure the maintenance of privilege in information and material relevant to the taxation proceeding.
38. Without waiving privilege, I can state:
- (a) The dispute with the taxation office was heard before Justice Middleton of the Federal Court of Australia on 13 November 2018.
 - (b) His Honour handed down a decision dismissing the application of the Scheme Administrator on 28 February 2019.
 - (c) The Scheme Administrator filed a Notice of Appeal in respect of the decision on 18 March 2018. The proceeding number for the appeal is VID243/2019.
 - (d) The appeal was heard before Justices Kenny, Davies and Thawley of the Full Federal Court on 22 August 2019. Their Honours handed down a decision dismissing the appeal of the Scheme Administrator on 27 May 2020.
 - (e) The Scheme Administrator lodged an application for special leave to appeal to the High Court of Australia on 24 June 2020. On 14 October 2020 the High Court handed down its decision and denied the application for special leave to appeal.
39. The overwhelming proportion of recent costs were expended on the legal work regarding the Scheme's taxation, including litigation outlined above.
40. Following the decision of the Full Federal Court, I instructed PwC to approach the ATO regarding the Scheme's ability to register for GST and claim credits (I had previously been advised by PwC to wait until the outcome of the income tax litigation before making such an approach). Initial discussions with the ATO indicated that they had the view the Scheme was not eligible to register for and claim GST credits. In those circumstances and in light of the reasoning of the Federal Court in the judgments regarding income tax issues I instructed PwC to take no further steps regarding GST liability.

41. I have lodged tax returns for the Scheme up to and including FY2020 and tax has been paid. The ATO has remitted general interest charge and penalties in full.
42. PwC has advised that the Scheme Administrator will be required to lodge tax returns for FY2021 and 2022, which are outstanding. PwC estimates that tax of approximately $47,000 in total will need to be paid across both years.

SETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATION COSTS

Currently outstanding fees and disbursements

43. Finalised itemised invoices for settlement administration fees and disbursements for work carried out between 1 December 2017 and 28 February 2023 are at pages 30 to 548 of this affidavit.
44. In previous affidavits, I have set out extensive details regarding the nature of the work performed by the SDS Team and the disbursements incurred by the Scheme.
45. Naturally, the majority of the previous work undertaken by the SDS Team has not been required during the current period because assessments have been completed and only a small fraction of the compensation monies have not been distributed to group members. The outstanding work which has been undertaken since the March 2018 affidavit includes as follows:

(a) General work:

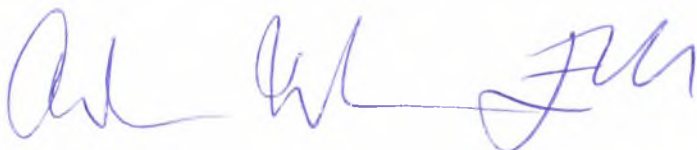

- i) Liaising with and instructing PwC on the conduct and progress of the taxation litigation, including substantive work to assist PwC and reviewing PwC's billing of the matter;
- ii) Drafting affidavit material to update the Supreme Court of Victoria on progress of the Settlement Administration and the taxation dispute;
- iii) Preparation for the Case Management Conference on 20 March 2018;

- iv) Preparing bulk correspondence to group members regarding the ongoing taxation dispute and updating Maurice Blackburn website to reflect progress;
- v) Responding to specific group member enquiries regarding the ongoing taxation dispute and other non-claim-specific matters;
- vi) Ongoing liaison with KPMG regarding the auditing requirements of the Scheme;
- vii) Ongoing liaison with John White, Special Referee for Costs, regarding the preparation of costs reports;
- viii) Managing the investment of the distribution funds in term deposits, as required under the terms of the Scheme;
- ix) Reconciling accounts, including the preparation and review of summaries of unrepresented cheques and outstanding distributions;
- x) Reviewing and managing the costs and billing of the Scheme including preparing material to update the Scheme Administrator about progress versus budgets;
- xi) Taking preparatory steps to ensure that the Scheme could effect a potential second distribution in the event that we succeeded in the taxation dispute litigation at first instance; and
- xii) Correspondence with the Supreme Court of Victoria regarding publication of material on the Supreme Court of Victoria website, communication with group members, case management hearings and the filing of materials.

(b) I-D work:

- i) Dealing with enquiries from claimants on matters including the following:
 1. The interplay between I-D compensation and Centrelink and/or NDIS payments;
 2. Potential late registration for I-D claims;
 3. The release of medical and claim information held by the Scheme; and

4. General enquiries about I-D assessments and compensation amounts.

(c) ELPD work:

- i) Attending to outstanding payments where probate issues or allocation disputes prevented distribution, including the drafting of documents to facilitate distribution agreements;
- ii) Reviewing information on claimants who had failed to present their cheques in a timely manner and directing communications to those claimants;
- iii) Effecting payments of compensation where it had been previously withheld and became payable, including the necessary trust accounting;
- iv) Communications with claimants and their solicitors regarding their entitlement to compensation and the terms of distribution; and
- v) Responding to various claimant enquiries.

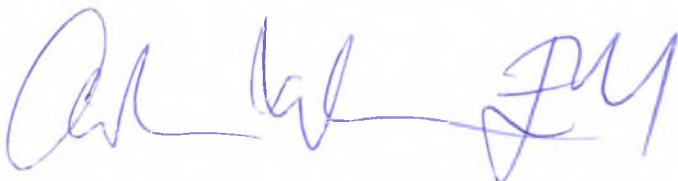

46. Subject to the Court receiving a satisfactory report from Mr White, I now seek approval for Maurice Blackburn to be paid $1,408,560.61 for settlement administration fees and disbursements incurred for the period 1 December 2017 until 28 February 2023, composed of:

- (a) $780,307.87 for the settlement administration fees and disbursements incurred for the period 1 December 2017 to 31 March 2019; and
- (b) $628,252.74 for the settlement administration fees and disbursements incurred for the period 1 April 2019 to 28 February 2023.

47. Plus the amount of $48,950 for the Fifth Costs report of independent costs referee John White.

Future costs

48. I consider that the Scheme will continue to incur liabilities until it is finalised. The overwhelming proportion of future costs will be the costs expended on a second distribution if such a course is required.

49. I estimate future costs to be incurred in finalising the Scheme to consist of the following:
- (a) $6,050 (incl GST) in fees from PwC for preparation and lodgement of outstanding tax returns as per paragraph 41 above; and
 - (b) $25,000 (incl GST) for general costs incurred by lawyers overseeing the settlement administration processes until finalisation of the Scheme by June 2023. This estimate assumes that there is no further distribution to Group Members.
50. I seek approval for the payment of up to $31,050 (incl GST) in future settlement administration costs.

BALANCE IN SETTLEMENT FUND

51. The current balance of the Settlement Account is $2,529,769.96. The Scheme Administrator estimates that after the deduction of outstanding fees and disbursements as well as the estimated costs for a potential further distribution and conclusion of the Administration, there will be approximately $221,146.64 left in the fund.

52. This amount is calculated as follows:

Current Balance in Settlement Account	$2,529,769.96
Less
Unbilled fees and disbursements (1 Dec 2017 to 28 February 2023)	$1,408,560.61
Balance remaining after payment of unbilled costs to 28 February 2023	$1,121,209.35
Less
Payment to Maurice Blackburn reimbursing amount expended rectifying errors in calculation of ID payments referred to in paragraph 25-32 above	$570,532.91

Payment to John White for Fifth Costs Report referred to in paragraph 47 above	$48,950
PwC disbursements referred to in paragraph 49(a) above	$6,050
Estimated costs to conclude Administration referred to in 49(b) above	$25,000
Payment of Tax liability referred to in paragraph 42 above	$47,000
Residual Sum	$423,676.44

53. There are two options for dealing with the Residual Sum:

- (a) A second distribution to group members; or
- (b) Donation of the Residual Sum to an appropriate charitable institution.

54. If a second distribution is made, further costs will necessarily be incurred in that distribution. The original distribution was made by cheque mailed to group member addresses. The costs associated with this mechanism of distribution would likely be disproportionate to the amount distributed. In any further distribution the Scheme Administrator would recommend the residual sum is shared equally amongst the group members, avoiding the need for complicated assessments and calculations.

55. To deliver this outcome, the Scheme Administrator would conduct a simplified process, to minimise associated costs and to deliver the maximum benefit to the group members. Nonetheless, I estimate the costs associated with a further distribution are likely to be approximately $202,529.80 (inc GST). The details of the proposed distribution process and estimated costs are at pages 549 to 552 of this affidavit.

56. If this approach is adopted, there would be approximately $221,146.64 to distribute to group members. I estimate each group member will receive approximately $35.00. If the Court agrees with this approach, I seek a direction under Clause J1 of the Scheme to proceed on this basis.

57. I note that:

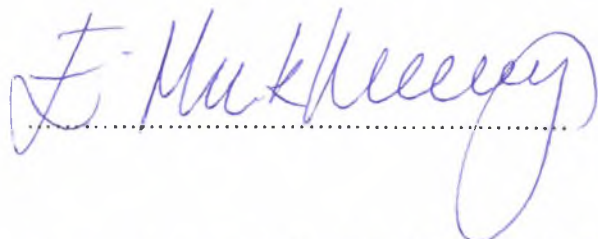

- (a) a second distribution is likely to consume approximately 52% of the Residual Sum in further costs of distribution;
- (b) group members were advised in the correspondence of 30 October 2020 that it was unlikely a further distribution would be made; and
- (c) that no express power exists under the Scheme to consider alternatives to making a second distribution to group members.

58. In these circumstances, the Court may wish to consider making a direction under Clause J1 of the Scheme to donate the Residual Sum to one or more appropriate charitable institutions. If the Court were inclined to consider this approach, the Court may wish to consider donating the residual sum to the Australian Red Cross and/or the Immersive Bushfire Experience Foundation. The Immersive Bushfire Experience Foundation is a registered charity that was established by the Lead Applicant, Carol Matthews OAM. The Foundation aims to enhance people's bushfire preparedness and ability to enact a bushfire plan when faced with the threat of a bushfire through an immersive and sensory experience. Ms Matthews has provided Maurice Blackburn with information about the Immersive Bushfire Experience Foundation, including a paper titled "Developing an Experiential Learning Experience to Narrow the Gap Between Expectations and Reality of Bushfire" 2019 written by Dr Rob Gordon, PHD, FAPS, FCCLP and David Younger, Clinical Psychology. This material is at pages 553 to 576 of this affidavit.

Dear «Contact_First_Name»,

Kilmore-East Kinglake Bushfire Class Action Settlement Administration Update on taxation dispute

We refer to previous correspondence in regards to the Settlement Administration and write to provide you with an update on the ongoing taxation dispute with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

We have previously advised regarding a dispute between the Scheme Administrator and the ATO about the taxation treatment of interest earned on the settlement monies.

In that advice we noted that the Scheme Administrator was working closely with our tax lawyers and the ATO to resolve the issue, but that litigation might be necessary.

Litigation commenced

There has been no resolution with the ATO and so on 27 March 2018, the Scheme Administrator filed proceedings in the Federal Court of Australia against the ATO. The Federal Court proceedings use one tax year in the Murrindindi Bushfire Class Action as a test case to resolve and clarify the issues in dispute.

The Court has listed the proceedings for a case management hearing in early June and our tax lawyers are presently preparing our case. You will not be required to be directly involved in the case.

In the event of a successful result there will be a second distribution to group members.

Until the Court has made a decision, it is impossible to calculate how much you might receive if there is a further distribution but you should be aware that because the amount in dispute is a very small proportion of the total settlement sum, the amounts involved in any potential second distribution are likely to be comparatively small (probably less than 3% of amounts previously distributed).

Timeframe and progress

Due to the uncertain nature of litigation, we cannot estimate with any precision how long the case might take. We have been working with our tax lawyers to have these issues resolved as quickly as possible and will continue to do so.

We will also continue to keep group members updated as this issue progresses to resolution.

Contact details

You should advise us of any changes to your contact details so that we can continue to update you about the resolution of the taxation dispute and ensure that we have accurate contact details in the event that there is a second settlement distribution.

Further questions

Please contact the Bushfire Class Action Info-line on 1800 99 55 70 if you have any further questions about this issue.

Yours faithfully,

Dear <contact first name>,

Kilmore-East Kinglake Bushfire Class Action Settlement Administration Update on taxation dispute

We refer to previous correspondence in regards to the Settlement Administration and write to provide you with an update on the ongoing taxation dispute with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

Hearing date for the tax dispute

We previously advised that we had commenced proceedings in the Federal Court of Australia against the ATO and that the matter was listed for case management in early June.

The case management hearing occurred on 8 June 2018. The hearing was of a procedural nature and the Court made orders relating to the timetable of the proceeding, including that the trial of the substantive issues be scheduled for 13 November 2018.

As previously advised, the outcome of the proceeding may result in a further distribution of compensation to Group Members if the Court finds in favour of the Scheme Administrator, but it is impossible to calculate at this point how much you might receive if there is a further distribution.

Again, you should be aware that because the amount in dispute is a very small proportion of the total settlement sum, the amounts involved in any potential second distribution are likely to be comparatively small (probably less than 3% of amounts previously distributed).

Contact details

You should advise us of any changes to your contact details so that we can continue to update you about the resolution of the taxation dispute and ensure that we have accurate contact details in the event that there is a second settlement distribution.

Further questions

We will continue to work with our lawyers to prepare the matter for trial but it is unlikely that there will be any meaningful developments in this matter until the Judge decides the outcome.

On that basis, we do not propose to provide any further update until the trial has concluded and we can advise you of the outcome. Of course should something occur which warrants an update prior to that time, we will keep you informed.

In the meantime, if you have any further questions about this issue, please contact the Bushfire Class Action Info-line on 1800 99 55 70.

Yours faithfully,

Andrew Watson

Dear «Contact_First_Name»,

Kilmore-East Kinglake Bushfire Class Action Settlement Administration Update on taxation dispute

We refer to previous correspondence in regards to the Settlement Administration and write to provide you with an update on the ongoing taxation dispute with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

Hearing of the tax dispute

The hearing of the dispute between the Scheme Administrator and the ATO occurred in the Federal Court of Australia on 13 November 2018.

It was a one-day hearing and the Judge will now make a ruling on the taxation of the Kilmore and Murrindindi class action distribution funds.

Once the Judge has made a decision, we will need to consider the implications for group members in both the Kilmore and Murrindindi matters.

However, at the conclusion of the hearing, the Judge indicated that a decision was unlikely to be handed down this year. Depending on the result, it is also possible that either side might seek to appeal the decision of the trial Judge.

As previously advised, the outcome of the proceeding may result in a further distribution of compensation to Group Members if the Court finds in favour of the Scheme Administrator, but it is impossible to calculate at this point how much you might receive if there is a further distribution.

Again, you should be aware that because the amount in dispute is a very small proportion of the total settlement sum, the amounts involved in any potential second distribution are likely to be comparatively small (probably less than 3% of amounts previously distributed).

Final Report into the Black Saturday Bushfire Class Actions Settlement Administration

The Settlement Administration has been overseen by the Supreme Court of Victoria and the Scheme Administrator has provided regular updates to the Court by attending case management hearings and filing written materials containing information about the Settlement Administration and its progress.

So that group members have access to a single, comprehensive analysis as to the operation of the Settlement Administration, Maurice Blackburn has prepared a Final Report into the Black Saturday Bushfire Class Actions Settlement Administration.

That Report has been filed in the Supreme Court and has been published on Maurice Blackburn's website.

The costs of the preparation of the Final Report were borne entirely by Maurice Blackburn and have not been passed on to group members in either of the Kilmore-East Kinglake or Murrindindi Bushfire class actions.

Contact details

You should advise us of any changes to your contact details so that we can continue to update you about the resolution of the taxation dispute and ensure that we have accurate contact details in the event that there is a second settlement distribution.

Further questions

We will write to you with a further update once the Judge has made a decision in the taxation dispute.

Given the timeframe identified by the Judge, we do not consider it likely that the case will be decided before the end of the year.

In the meantime, if you have any further questions about this issue, please contact the Bushfire Class Action Info-line on 1800 99 55 70.

Yours faithfully,

Andrew Watson

Dear «Contact_First_Name»,

Kilmore-East Kinglake Bushfire Class Action Settlement Administration Update on taxation dispute

We refer to previous correspondence in regards to the Settlement Administration and write to provide you with an update on the taxation dispute with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) which was heard by the Federal Court on 13 November 2018.

Outcome of the hearing in the tax dispute

On 28 February 2019, the Court handed down a decision which held that the Scheme Administrator is not entitled to deduct the costs incurred by the Settlement Distribution Scheme (Scheme) from the interest which was earned on the settlement monies, in calculating the taxable income of the Scheme.

This result means that the amount which was previously withheld from distribution to meet our potential taxation liability must be paid to the taxation office.

We are obviously disappointed with the outcome and we will be discussing the possibility of appealing the decision of the Federal Court with our legal advisers in the coming days.

For further information on the tax dispute and the decision of the Federal Court please go to <https://www.mauriceblackburn.com.au/class-actions/current-class-actions/bushfire-class-actions/kilmore-east-kinglake-bushfire-class-action/>

Next steps

Under the Federal Court Rules, the Scheme Administrator has 21 days from the date of the judgment to seek leave to bring an appeal.

As noted above, we are reviewing the Court's decision carefully and considering if any ground of appeal might exist. We will inform you of the outcome of this review, and any steps we propose to take, as soon as practicable.

MDI 01.03.2019.docx

In the event that we do not seek to appeal the decision, we will take the necessary steps to disburse the Scheme's taxation liability and finalise the operation of the Scheme.

Contact details

You should advise us of any changes to your contact details so that we can continue to update you about the resolution of the taxation dispute and the potential finalisation of the Scheme.

Further questions

We will write to you with a further update once we have more information to provide to you.

In the meantime, if you have any further questions about this issue, please contact the Bushfire Class Action Info-line on 1800 99 55 70.

Dear <Contact first name>,

Kilmore East - Kinglake Bushfire Class Action Settlement Administration Update on Taxation Dispute

We refer to previous correspondence regarding the taxation dispute in the Murrindindi Bushfire Class Action which impacts upon the Settlement Administrations in both the Murrindindi and Kilmore East-Kinglake matters.

Tax Appeal Judgment

The Full Court of the Federal Court heard the appeal of the dispute with the ATO about the amount of tax payable on interest earned on settlement funds on 22 August 2019.

On 27 May 2020, the Full Court handed down its decision on the appeal in favour of the ATO. The Full Court found that certain deductions that would reduce the amount of tax payable by the Scheme Administrators were not allowed.

Following the ruling of the Full Court

The Scheme Administrator will need to carefully consider the implications of the judgement for claimants in both the Murrindindi and Kilmore Kinglake-East matters.

This will require the Scheme Administrator to take advice from our tax lawyers as to whether an appeal to the High Court is in the best interests of claimants.

If, based on the advice of the tax lawyers, no further appeal is lodged, there is unlikely to be any further distribution to claimants. If an appeal is lodged, it will be some time before the matter is finally resolved.

We refer to previous correspondence regarding the taxation dispute in the Murrindindi Bushfire Class Action which impacts upon the Settlement Administrations in both the Murrindindi and Kilmore East-Kinglake matters.

Tax Appeal Judgment

The Full Court of the Federal Court heard the appeal of the dispute with the ATO about the amount of tax payable on interest earned on settlement funds on 22 August 2019.

On 27 May 2020, the Full Court handed down its decision on the appeal in favour of the ATO. The Full Court found that certain deductions that would reduce the amount of tax payable by the Scheme Administrators were not allowed.

Following the ruling of the Full Court

Following the decision of the Full Court, the Scheme Administrator received advice from our independent tax lawyers including an eminent Queen's Counsel who specialises in tax matters. Having carefully considered this advice and the implications of the decision for claimants in both the Murrindindi and Kilmore Kinglake-East matters, the Scheme Administrator lodged an application for special leave to appeal to the High Court of Australia on 24 June 2020.

We are currently waiting to hear if the High Court of Australia will grant our application for special leave. If our application is not granted, there is unlikely to be any further distribution to claimants. If our application is granted, the High Court will hear our appeal at a later date and it will be some considerable time before the matter is finally resolved.

Dear <Contact first name>,

Kilmore East - Kinglake Bushfire Class Action Settlement Administration Update on Taxation Dispute

We refer to previous correspondence regarding the taxation dispute in the Murrindindi Bushfire Class Action which impacts upon the Settlement Administrations in both the Murrindindi and Kilmore East-Kinglake matters.

In particular we refer to our most recent update to group members in August 2020 when we advised that we were awaiting the outcome of the special leave application to the High Court.

On 14 October 2020 the High Court handed down its decision and unfortunately denied the application for special leave to appeal. This application to the High Court was the final avenue of appeal. The consequence of the High Court's decision is that the Australian Tax Office's (ATO) assessment of the tax payable by the Scheme Administrator is upheld.

There are no further steps that can be taken to challenge the ATO's assessment of the tax payable.

Throughout the appeal process, we have taken advice from tax specialists who have consistently maintained that there were grounds upon which to challenge the ATO's assessment of the tax payable and reasonable prospects that an appeal could be successful.

While we are disappointed by the High Court's decision to deny the application for special leave to appeal, we were advised that it was appropriate to pursue the issue to the High Court because had the Scheme Administrator ultimately been successful the result would have been a reduced amount of tax payable to the ATO and a further distribution of settlement funds to group members.

Given the High Court's decision there will be no further distribution to group members, and the Scheme Administrator will now take the necessary steps to conclude the Administration.

 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. - Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill.  - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest.  - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

If the bill remains unpaid for more than fourteen (14) days of being given, we will charge interest in accordance with Section 195 of the Uniform Law or the terms of the costs agreement, if those terms are different from the Uniform Law. The rate of interest is the Cash Rate Target, as specified by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change you can check the applicable rate at www.rba.gov.au.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL OF TRUST MONEY

If money has been paid into the Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd trust account for or by you we hereby notify you that we will withdraw money from trust and apply it towards payment of our legal costs to Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 192 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION UNIFORM LAW (Victoria) ('Uniform Law')

This Notification applies if you provided first instructions on or after 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL OF TRUST MONEY

If money has been paid into the Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd trust account for or by you we hereby notify you that we will withdraw money from trust and apply it towards payment of our legal costs to Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 192 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION UNIFORM LAW (Victoria) ('Uniform Law')

This Notification applies if you provided first instructions on or after 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

If the bill remains unpaid for more than fourteen (14) days of being given, we will charge interest in accordance with Section 195 of the Uniform Law or the terms of the costs agreement, if those terms are different from the Uniform Law. The rate of interest is the Cash Rate Target, as specified by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change you can check the applicable rate at www.rba.gov.au.

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

If the bill remains unpaid for more than fourteen (14) days of being given, we will charge interest in accordance with Section 195 of the Uniform Law or the terms of the costs agreement, if those terms are different from the Uniform Law. The rate of interest is the Cash Rate Target, as specified by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change you can check the applicable rate at www.rba.gov.au.

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill.  - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill.  - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL OF TRUST MONEY

If money has been paid into the Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd trust account for or by you we hereby notify you that we will withdraw money from trust and apply it towards payment of our legal costs to Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 192 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION UNIFORM LAW (Victoria) ('Uniform Law')

This Notification applies if you provided first instructions on or after 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL OF TRUST MONEY

If money has been paid into the Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd trust account for or by you we hereby notify you that we will withdraw money from trust and apply it towards payment of our legal costs to Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 192 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION UNIFORM LAW (Victoria) ('Uniform Law')

This Notification applies if you provided first instructions on or after 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. - Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL OF TRUST MONEY

If money has been paid into the Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd trust account for or by you we hereby notify you that we will withdraw money from trust and apply it towards payment of our legal costs to Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 192 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION UNIFORM LAW (Victoria) ('Uniform Law')

This Notification applies if you provided first instructions on or after 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $106,835 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $106,835, but the total in dispute is $10,685 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. - Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or

 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;

You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 3.4.35 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (VIC)

This Notification applies if first instructions were received by us before 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer responsible for your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns cannot be satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises and you are not a commercial or government client as defined by the Legal Profession Act 2004 (Vic) ('Act'), you may:-

- Seek a Costs Review at the Costs Court of the Supreme Court of Victoria ('Costs Court') under Division 7 of Part 3.4 of the Act. Different time limits apply for making an application for a Costs Review depending on the date you first instructed us to act in relation to the matter which is the subject of the bill. If first instructions were received:-
 - on 12 December 2004 to 8 May 2007 inclusive, an application must be made within sixty (60) days of date:-
 - the bill was given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid,whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application which is out of time will be allowed unless we can establish that we would be unfairly prejudiced.
 - On or after 9 May 2007, an application must be made within twelve (12) months of the date:
 - the bill being given; or
 - a request for payment was made; or
 - the costs were paid, if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.whichever is the earlier or earliest. An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time;
- Apply to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal to set aside the costs agreement under the provisions of Section 3.4.32 of the Act, if applicable. The time limit for this application is six (6) years from the date the cause of action arose;
- Make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner under Chapter 4 of the Act within sixty (60) days after the legal costs were payable or if an itemised bill was requested in respect of those costs, then within thirty (30) days after the request was complied with. The legal costs must not exceed $25,000 in respect of any one matter. You may be able to make a Complaint to the Legal Services Commissioner up to four (4) months after that time limit expires, provided you are able to satisfy the Commissioner that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in making the Complaint. You will not be able to make a Complaint if the costs are or have been the subject of legal proceedings for recovery or a Costs Review at the Costs Court.

INTEREST

If first instructions were received before 1 July 2015 and the bill remains unpaid for more than thirty (30) days, we will charge interest on the outstanding amount at a rate that is equal to the Cash Rate Target, as fixed by the Reserve Bank of Australia, plus 2%. The Cash Rate Target is subject to change. To check the applicable Cash Rate Target at any relevant time, go to www.rba.gov.au.

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL OF TRUST MONEY

If money has been paid into the Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd trust account for or by you we hereby notify you that we will withdraw money from trust and apply it towards payment of our legal costs to Maurice Blackburn Pty Ltd.

NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS
under Section 192 of the
LEGAL PROFESSION UNIFORM LAW (Victoria) ('Uniform Law')

This Notification applies if you provided first instructions on or after 1 July 2015.

If you have any concerns about legal costs please contact the lawyer handling your file or that lawyer's supervisor. Alternatively contact David Halstead, Senior Executive - Client Liaison, on (03) 8102 2193. If your concerns are not satisfactorily resolved or a dispute arises you may:-

- Request an itemised bill within thirty (30) days of the date upon which legal costs become payable. However, if the total amount of legal costs specified in the itemised bill is more than the amount specified in the lump sum bill for the same matter we may be able to recover the higher or additional amount if the costs are determined to be payable after a costs assessment under Section 198 or after a binding determination under Section 292 of the Uniform Law.
- Lodge a Costs Dispute Complaint under Division 1 of Part 5.2 of the Uniform Law with the Victorian Legal Services Commission ('Commission') within sixty (60) days of the legal costs becoming payable or if an itemised bill was requested within thirty (30) days of the request being complied with. The Commission may waive the time limits specified if satisfied that:-
 - the Complaint is made within four (4) months of the specified period, and
 - after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, it just and fair to deal with the Complaint out of time; and
 - we have not commenced legal proceedings in respect of the legal costs.

The Commission can only deal with costs disputes where legal costs are less than $128,760 or where legal costs are equal to or more than $128,760, but the total in dispute is $12,880 or less. These figures are subject to indexation.

- Provided you are not a 'commercial or government client' as defined in section 170 (2) of the Uniform Law, Seek a Costs Assessment under Division 7 of Part 4.3 of the Uniform Law by the Costs Court of the Supreme Court ('Costs Court'). The application for assessment must be made within twelve (12) months of:-
 - a bill being given; or
 - a request for payment being made; or
 - legal costs being paid, if neither a bill nor a request was made.

An application can be made after that period and may be allowed if, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, the Costs Court is of the view that it is fair and just for the application to be heard out of time.

INTEREST

PROCESS AND ESTIMATED COSTS OF COMPLETING A FURTHER DISTRIBUTION TO GROUP MEMBERS

This note outlines the steps required to be taken by Maurice Blackburn to complete a further distribution to group members of the residual settlement funds that will remain in the settlement administration accounts after payment of all costs.

After consideration of the steps involved, we prepared an estimate of the total costs we expect would be incurred in completing a further distribution.

PROCESS OVERVIEW

1. CALCULATION OF FURTHER DISTRIBUTION AMOUNT

- (a) We propose that all group members receive an equal proportion of the residual settlement amount rather than on a pro-rata of loss basis. This will reduce the overall costs of the distribution by simplifying the complexity of calculations required to distribute on a pro-rata basis.
- (b) We have considered the time of an IT Consultant and Data Administrator to assist with preparing the group member data and completing the simplified calculations.

2. COLLECTING GROUP MEMBER BANK DETAILS

- (a) After calculating group members distribution entitlements, we would need to contact all group members, advising them of the payment amount and seeking bank account details for payment.
- (b) Due to the passage of time since the last group member communication and payment, we expect we will need to communicate with group members by a combination of email, post and SMS. We also expect a considerable amount of time being spent to follow up any undelivered emails or mail.
- (c) We have accounted for the time required by Paralegals to respond to enquiries generated by the mail out, including assisting group members in navigating the online bank details portal, following up undelivered emails and mail, in addition to answering general enquiries. We have also taken into account the time required by a Lawyer to draft the correspondence and deal with any escalated and complex enquiries. Finally, we have accounted for time required by a Legal Assistant to oversee the postal mail out of relevant documents.

3. PROCESSING PAYMENT

- (a) We have accounted for the time taken by a Lawyer to review and audit bank details and create payment schedules for processing.

4. FOLLOWING UP ON BOUNCED PAYMENTS

- (a) We have accounted for a buffer of 10% to account for the work involved in following up bounced and failed payments.

ESTIMATE OF COSTS

5. Our costs estimate has been prepared based on the approved hourly rates.

KILMORE

6. Disbursements

We estimate postage costs of $3,200 (excl GST). This is based on the number of group members who require notice via post (808) and a previous quote from Law Image for the most recent mail out completed on 13/11/2020.

7. Professional Fees

Our estimated for professional fees are $202,529.80 (incl GST). These fees are based upon the expectation that we would require 10 weeks to complete the steps outlined in this note to complete a redistribution, and that two full time Paralegals would be required to service the 5,000 group members in this matter.

Each summer in Australia bushfires pose a significant threat to many Australian communities. All Australians should have a Bushfire Plan. Unfortunately the majority do not.

Traditionally bushfire planning has concentrated upon attending the local CFA Community meetings. Unfortunately despite the excellent efforts of the local CFA volunteers, the percentage of community participation at these meetings is frustratingly low.

An important tool for reducing the risk of death, injury and property loss is to have a written and rehearsed 'bushfire survival plan'. Yet people who have been through fires report that when the fire was upon them they were taken by surprise and unable to think clearly enough to implement their plans. They were not prepared for the overwhelming experience of the fire. The unexpected intensity of sound, heat and smoke. The lack of visibility, inability to communicate and disorientation in familiar environments made it hard for them to think or make good decisions.

Current bushfire advice does not include information about how the actual experience of an emergency may affect the person's capacity to enact even the best prepared plans. Community members who have been through fires have asked on many occasions "how do I make a plan when I don't know what I am planning for?".

Many people develop their bushfire plans at their kitchen table on a calm day. It is then put away, ready to be used 'later'. However this is not the environment they will be in when the plan needs to be put into action. It will be windy, hot, dark, smoky, frightening and confusing.

This unexpected reality disrupts plans. Decisions are made without understanding the impact of the actual bushfire threat. Research indicates that unexpected threat and stress causes a state of heightened arousal which reduces the ability to function effectively; make sound decisions and carry out logical and effective actions. The brain goes into 'survival mode' unable to adapt to evolving situations and as a result the individual loses the ability to make and carry out strategic decisions. They find themselves dithering, unable to shift focus and solve unexpected problems (such as why their fire pump will not start), making bad choices that they would later reflect were ineffective, unwise and dangerous.

Psychological or emotional preparedness bridges the gap between expectation and reality. It determines the extent to which people can anticipate what it would be like to be in a threatening situation, as well as their ability to effectively manage thoughts, emotions and behaviours; and appropriately respond to danger.

The real life reflections of two families during the 7th February 2009 Victorian bushfires prompted the development of an Immersive Bushfire Experience (IBE). With the support of Emergency Management Victoria, a preliminary prototype of the IBE was developed and tested in 2015 and 2016 with members of the Kinglake and Emerald communities. Findings were used to progress the experience to its current stage of development, which will comprise a full mobile multi sensory learning space staffed with facilitators trained to deliver the experience in a collaborative, safe and supportive way.

Dr. Gordon, (Clinical Psychologist), a specialist in natural disasters and trauma recovery and a member of the IBE working party, states that the immersive experience should be based around working through decision-making in stressful situations when all sensory impacts (smell, hearing, taste, touch, lack of sight) are added to the bushfire threat.

It will show participants how their minds and bodies react differently when these sensory elements are introduced and plans will be hard to implement in the heat of the moment. However with familiarity and advice, they will learn to expect the unexpected and how to build arousal management into their survival planning.

TELL me and I will forget
SHOW me and I may remember
INVOLVE me and I will understand
OFFER me an experience and I will get to know how I feel, what others feel and what to expect if it happens to me in reality.

Funding with Emergency Management Victoria ended in 2018 and due to current world events, it is unlikely that there will be any more financial support. The Commissioner, however, as well as Federal and State politicians remain supportive of the project.

In 2019, The IBE Foundation Incorporated was registered as a charity with the Australian Charities and Not-for-Profits Commission (ACNC).

When we have the funds, the IBE will hold a series of multi sensory workshops where participants will be taken in a safe supported space, through the progression of a normal day that turns into one where they have left it too late to leave and a bushfire is upon them. Listening to a narrative as the day worsens, they will experience the sound of the fire, wind, smoke, smell, darkness and confusion. The resulting feelings of threat, stress and heightened arousal reduces the ability to function effectively potentially leading to a fight, flight or freeze reaction and poor, even life threatening, decisions being made.

At the start of each workshop there will be a psychological pre-brief with strategies as to how to cope with the experience. Following the experience there will be a debrief and chance for the group to share their feelings and discuss strategies that could help them implement their plans in an ever changing environment. This is often the most important part of the workshop.

Developing an Experiential Learning Experience to Narrow the Gap Between Expectations and Reality of a Bushfire

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The threat posed to many Australian communities by natural disaster events such as bushfires, is an ever present component of this country's landscape. A 'bushfire survival plan' is recommended as one of the means of mitigating the risk of personal injury and property damage (Country Fire Authority, 2011). However, current bushfire preparation guidelines do not consider the effect of the psychological impact of experiencing an emergency on the enactment of plans. Threat, stress and heightened arousal reduce the ability to function effectively, make decisions and carry out plans. This proposal provides an evidence informed theoretical basis for the development of an immersive bushfire experience to introduce the sensory elements of a bushfire into preparedness.

Consideration is given to; the impact of threat associated with the emergency, psychological preparedness, and the effects of the resulting heightened arousal and stress on attention, memory, processing of information and decision making. The context within which these changes are examined is the real life experience of a bushfire. Methods to counteract the consequences of high arousal and preserve the capacity to perform effectively are discussed. Wider implications are drawn for bushfire preparedness activities. In addition, the insights gained from a series of prototyping sessions grounded in human centred design principles and conducted with members of rural and semi-rural Victorian communities are examined.

The findings support the two primary aims of the immersive sensory experiential learning experience:

1. To narrow the gap between pre-bushfire expectations and the reality of a first-hand experience so that planning and preparation take into consideration a wider and more realistic range of possibilities relevant to the emergency situation.
2. To enhance psychological preparedness for; the intensity of a bushfire experience, the resulting stress and emotions, and the need to make decisions and to implement actions effectively when in the emergency induced state of stress.

Developing an Experiential Learning Experience to Narrow the Gap Between Expectations and Reality of a Bushfire

It is proposed that inclusion of an immersive sensory experiential experience within the logic underpinning bushfire education services in Victoria will help improve both individual and community resilience. It can also save lives, prevent trauma, and reduce impact and consequence for individuals, families and communities living with bushfire threat.

Expectations, Reality and Trust

For many years there have been discussions, reviews, papers and observations examining the ways in which people understand bushfire. For example, how is it that they access information? Does this occur via school education programs, through television and social media, by reading written information handouts, or by attending community events? How do people then consolidate this information so as to reach a point of personal relevance and meaning? How are expectations of what it may be like to experience a real-life bushfire developed? Is it that people accept what they have been told by others in their community, some of whom will have not have experienced a bushfire? Do they read first-hand personal accounts of perhaps they consult with local fire fighters? In fact, how is it that people build a realistic picture in their minds of what a bushfire would be like? Do they do this at all?

Most importantly, how accurate is their understanding, their expectations of what will happen in a bushfire and what this means for their own safety as well as the safety of others? Based on the findings of consultation with a number of at risk Victorian communities, the authors propose that many people currently have false and/or ill-informed expectations about what it is like to experience a bushfire. This 'gap' between expectation and reality is the focus of the immersive sensory experiential learning experience.

In modern society, it seems ingrained into the collective psyche to seek to blame, to hold someone else responsible, and to look for single or multiple failures in any system that is designed to keep community safe. This situation means that when something does go wrong, when the plan fails or, when the outcome differs to expectations, the post event analysis contributes to further trauma, prolongs disruption in daily life, and potentially delays recovery. This is because community members come to believe that they have been let down and/or were not told the truth. However, rarely is consideration given to the possibility that expectations of the emergency were lacking or false. This leaves many wondering, questioning and looking for who can be blamed. It has been observed repeatedly that any good will created through education programs, public relations exercises, effectively responding to and recovering from emergencies disappears very quickly. Trust in each other or the relevant Government entity is often damaged or broken. Trust across many aspects of life including relationships, work, community, and self, is eroded

Emergency Preparedness: Introducing the Theory and Practice for Survival

The Victorian Black Saturday bushfires of 7 February 2009, caused the death of 173 people, injured another 414, destroyed 2100 homes, and displaced 7562 community members (Victorian Bushfires Royal Commission, 2009). The 2009 Victorian Bushfires Royal Commission investigated the causes of, preparation for, response to and impact of the fires. The main aim of the Commission was to improve understanding and finalise recommendations to reduce the risks of such a catastrophic event occurring again.

Of the 67 recommendations made, recommendation two highlights the need for a revision of the approach to community bushfire safety education in order to, “ensure that in content and delivery the program is flexible enough to engage individuals, households and communities, and to accommodate their needs and circumstances” and to, “regularly evaluate the effectiveness of community education programs and amend them as necessary” (Victorian Bushfires Royal Commission, 2009, p. 23). It is therefore imperative that bushfire education and preparedness programs are tailored to at risk communities needs and reflect experience, agility, innovation and relevant scientific knowledge.

Community members’ plans, decisions and actions in relation to the Murrindindi fire complex were researched using transcripts of interviews with survivors, witness statements and evidence presented to the Royal Commission. Two of the ten conclusions were related to preparedness (McLennan & Elliott, 2011):

1. Commitment to a bushfire plan without specific conditions having been met and without having alternative fall back options may have disastrous consequences.
2. When faced with a life threatening bushfire situation, survival will largely be determined by: having the ability to down-regulate (control) negative emotions including anxiety and fear, maintaining attentional focus on threats emerging from the environment, and the capability to keep actions coordinated in a threatening environment.

Another study analysed householders’ decisions in relation to a bushfire to leave as soon as possible, stay and defend their home or wait and see what happens before committing to a final action. It concluded that different psychological processes drove each of the three choices. Factors influencing decision making included: personal safety; protecting property; self-confidence to stay and defend; and not wanting to make the wrong decision (McLennan, Elliott, and Beatson, 2013). Both of these studies indicate the important role psychological factors play in preparation, decision making under imminent threat, and increasing the chance of survival when faced with a bushfire. The effectiveness, implementation and safe outcome of a plan is therefore strongly influenced by the psychological state of the person. Irrespective of their pre-existing knowledge, its value depends on being able to apply it under threat.

These findings share links with Reser’s (1993) early disaster preparedness work in which he makes the proposal that the ability to manage stress more effectively requires processes involving perception, sense making and behavioural and emotional responses to threat. He further advises that perception is influenced by experience and knowledge whilst decision making is impacted by such factors as anxiety, uncertainty, perceived lack of control, and having limited options. Effective preparedness must include the psychology of being under threat and the consequent state of heightened arousal. The design and goals of bushfire preparation must include methods to manage high levels of stress and to preserve the capacity to function as required by the plan.

Although the literature is still emerging, what does exist indicates the important role psychological factors play in preparation, decision making under imminent threat, and increasing the chance of survival when faced with a bushfire. The effectiveness, implementation and safe outcome of preparation is therefore strongly influenced by the psychological state of the person. Irrespective of their pre-existing knowledge, its value depends on being able to apply it under threat. Effective preparedness must include the psychology of being under threat and the consequent state of heightened arousal. The design and goals of bushfire plans must include methods to manage high levels of stress and to preserve the capacity to function as required by the plan.

The Psychological Stress of the Bushfire Experience

Many accounts describe the difficulty people have in carrying out what they have planned in the threat of the moment. The intensity of the experience and immediacy of the threat are unprecedented. Sensory overload, disorientation, emotional distress, difficulty thinking and confusion are common. Factors that may interfere with the capacity to implement bushfire plans are demonstrated by the following examples (Knight and Turnbull, 2016).

Lack of prepared actions

“I took a hose and was hosing the veranda. I remember seeing on TV that you put wet towels around, and put water in whatever will hold it and wet everything down – that was how to stop the house catching on fire. But it was too hot and too windy and the water was evaporating straight away” (p 86).

Disbelief

“Then very quickly it all got very scary. I went outside and the sky was engulfed by this enormous brown disgusting cloud. I didn’t want to believe what I was seeing” (p. 27).

Sensory overload

“I looked toward the house, roughly where it was but couldn’t see it, it was black. It was not just smoke, but was carbon from burnt grass and leaves. I couldn’t see my hand in front of my face.... When the fire came over, I know everyone says it, but it was like a couple of jets sitting on top of the house – it was absolutely incredible the noise ... the house filled up with smoke and a couple of the windows broke” (p. 24).

Confusion

“The smoke was so thick I couldn’t see my hand in front of my face. I thought I’ve got to get out of here. If the smoke doesn’t get me the fire will.... I thought, if I can’t see the flames then I don’t know where the fire is, I’ve got to get the hell out of here.... I put my hands out in front of me and I walked until I hit the fence. I went down the fence hand over hand along the driveway” (pp. 42-43).

Mental speed

“You try and work out things in your mind and your mind is going a hundred miles an hour trying to think of things” (p. 7)

“I didn’t even have time to put the baby’s seatbelt on, I asked Joshua to, ‘put your arms across your sister and don’t let go’... it was clear to me I would be driving completely blind and there was no turning back. It would be the scariest three kilometres I have ever driven. I honestly could not see two feet in front of the car.

The only way I knew I was on the road was from the burning flames that towered either side of the car” (p. 35)

Physical discomfort

“The fire was coming through and we could hear houses burning. You couldn’t see fifteen or twenty metres in front of you. The air was so dry, it was hot and it was really dark. It was like a dark cloud on the sunset. It was orange. The noise of gas bottles exploding was a roar, it would be booom and you could feel the ground vibrating, booooo again; an explosion every five to ten seconds. It was like standing beside an army tank shooting off its cannon.... I remember it being that hot and the fire had started to burn the house I would hold my breath – go into the house and fill up the bucket with water – and puff, puff, puff I’d go out.... I would put my face under my overalls and hold my breath about forty seconds. It was so, so, hot, like going next to a bonfire and you can’t bear the heat” (pp. 60-61).

These personal experiences show the importance of preparing for the features of the bushfire likely to disorient or disable the person from following their plan. They include visibility, sound, heat, urgency, speed of events, confusion and anxiety combined with surprise, threat, and danger. Stressors such as these in bushfires can be divided into two categories:

1. Exogenous stressors embedded in the person’s environment including heat, noise, wind, visibility and speed of movement.
2. Endogenous stressors in the person and in their social group for example, anxiety, urgency, surprise, confusion, fear, lack of information, and unexpectedness (Hammond, 2000).

Each group of stressors has different impacts and requires different techniques to enable effective management. As such, they need to be appropriately represented within bushfire planning. Human survival depends on preparedness for what will occur and requires preservation of the capacity to think, plan, coordinate, communicate and make decisions in the face of the emergency. Preparedness for the stress experience and the ability to manage it are essential to the prevention of injury or death and the protection of property and possessions.

Psychological Preparedness – the Foundation Construct

Psychological preparedness requires that the qualities of the emergency experience and reactions to it are an inherent part of preparing. They include preparation for the experience, knowing the reactions it will cause, anticipating what will happen, expecting the stress, managing emotions associated with it, protecting the ability to think and make decisions, and adaptive flexibility to adjust plans (Reser, 1999). Providing advice about psychological preparedness for cyclones in Far North Queensland during the 1996-1997 season contributed to people coping more effectively and responding more adaptively after a cyclone (Morrissey and Reser, 2003).

Psychological preparedness has been defined as, “a heightened state of awareness, anticipation, and readiness for:

1. The uncertainty and emotional arousal in expectation of the possible occurrence of the threat;
2. One’s own psychological response to the unfolding threat situation;

3. The ability to manage the demands of the situation” (Zulch, Morrissey, Reser, and Creed, 2012).

Three distinct aspects of psychological preparedness have been identified: first, the person’s awareness and anticipation of their own psychological responses to the stress of the situation; second, their capacity, confidence and competence to manage their psychological responses to the stressful situation; and third, their knowledge, confidence and competence to manage the situation and circumstances of the emergency (Zulch, Morrissey, Reser, and Creed, 2012).

These can be described as the three dimensions of psychological preparedness:

1. Preparedness for the intensity of the experience (exogenous stressors),
2. Preparedness for the resulting stress and emotions (endogenous stressors),
3. Preparedness for the need to make decisions and to implement actions effectively when in the emergency induced state of stress.

Psychological preparedness plays a vital part in effective emergency plans and requires realistic expectations about what bushfire situations will be like, how individuals will react to them and methods to manage psychological reactions so as to preserve the ability to function effectively. Anticipating and managing both exogenous and endogenous stress is essential.

Preparation needs to cater for the unexpected and the situation becoming more dangerous than expected. Such circumstances stimulate the person to enter an unfamiliar state of heightened arousal, which can involve a changed sense of reality, difficulty maintaining rational thought and decision making. If this happens, preparations that have included psychological preparedness may mean the difference between life and death.

The following example shows the difficulty maintaining rational decision making in extreme circumstances:

“I told the kids, ‘Don’t run, but walk, walk as fast as you can to the car.’ Scarlet asked, ‘What about the bags [that were packed earlier]?’ I told her to ‘leave the bags, just get to the car.’ I headed for the door and picked up Tye.

Aurora was only eighteen months old at that time and I remember her standing there in her nappy and nothing else and thought, oh no, she hasn’t got any clothes on.

I had some woollen baby blankets that I had washed, so I grabbed them. We raced to the car. I now had Aurora, Trav grabbed her out of my arms, Tye was nearly at the car, Trav yelled, ‘Get out of the house. Get out of the house!’ I thought, my God, what’s happened? Why is he suddenly alarmed; what has changed? All this happened in less than a couple of minutes.

I don’t know what made me think of Trav’s dad’s watch, (his dad had recently passed away), in case it all turned to shit, I started to run and grabbed the watch and Trav’s wedding ring and started back as fast as I could to the front door.... I remember thinking, my hands are full; if I put this down I can grab my jewellery. Then I saw a t-shirt of Trav's and his empty overnight bag, I grabbed them and thought a t-shirt's better than jewellery and went running to the front door" (Knight and Turnbull, 2016, p.122).

The aim of psychological preparedness is to combat the threat, maintain purposeful action and undertake a sequence of actions to preserve property while minimising risk to life. Preparation means knowing what might happen and knowing what will need to be done to survive the emergency. Being unprepared means encountering unforeseen events or situations, being unprepared to combat them, and losing the capacity to functioning effectively in the moment.

Knowledge of fire behaviour, having protective garments for the exogenous stressors, being familiar with equipment and knowing how to operate it are all essential. But equally important is being prepared for the endogenous stressors, knowing what the experience will be like, understanding how one's physical, emotional and mental state will change under threat, and drawing on effective methods of maintaining emotional control while following clear problem solving procedures to use the knowledge and equipment. Without managing the psychological state, even extensive physical preparations may be ineffective and impair decision making which is crucial for experiencing an emergency.

Stress and the Body: The Psychological and Physical Effects of Emergencies

What is stress?

Stress has been defined as occurring whenever circumstances disrupt the normal state of balance between body and mind and demand a response that is outside normal routines (Hammond, 2000; Sapolsky, 2004a). The stress response prepares body and mind to survive a threat by activating specialised functions. Adjustments to the normal state enhance capacities that assist in meeting the demands of the threat but at the expense of setting aside other functions which are perceived as not relevant to the current threat. Body and mind enter an altered state, specialised for survival.

However, since bushfire preparedness typically occurs in the normal state, when a person is under threat and is attempting to implement plans, they are doing so in an unfamiliar state of stress. A consequence of this may be a compromised mode of functioning and the person may have difficulty actioning a pre-prepared plan.

The normal state of mind

In the normal state, necessary processes occur according to the mind and body's routines and rhythms using the resources available. This state is referred to as being in homeostasis. It literally means being in "the same stability" (McEwan and Lasley 2002) and identifies the need for organisms to preserve themselves in an optimal state. Mental and physical homeostasis allows the varied aspects of experience to be integrated to form a whole. Past knowledge, memories, present evaluations of what is important, future goals, mental skills, capacities to think, plan and make decisions all develop and are available in this "comfort zone." There is a balance between awareness of self and of the environment as well as between bodily needs and mental interests.

However, as an experience becomes more pressing, it dominates awareness and motivates a response to meet the need, after which comfort zone is regained and attention returns to the neglected experiences, which temporarily moved into the background to allow a focus on the problem. Comfort zone permits an alteration between focus on emotionally important parts of the experience then integrating them into the whole so that complex skills such as decision making and planning can be retained and activated in the context of the long-term goals.

The mind has limited mental resources available but in the comfort zone they are able to be spread over the range of capacities required for optimal functioning (Kahneman, 1973; Matthews, 2001). Mature mental skills and capacities such as reasoning, rational thinking, problem solving, learning from experience, planning, prioritising and creative innovation are available in the normal state, through the alternation between focus on details and reflection on the whole. Understanding what is important, thinking ahead and anticipating future needs, all enable thoughtful problem solving.

Socially mature emotions, altruism, empathy, awareness of others' needs, patience and forbearance are also available in the comfort zone (Mandler, 1984). These capacities develop and function when the mind is without significant psychological, emotional or physical stress.

An essential feature of the normal state that preserves homeostasis is the establishment of routines within life activities taking place in an environment where there is a close match between expectations and events. Where possible, routines are arranged to maximise achieving outcomes and the control a person has over their life (Clark, 2000).

The familiar environment and routines become part of a constant, familiar and predictable world which conforms to what is expected, so does not require focal attention.

The demand on understanding and responding is low, allowing them to be applied to more distant goals and creative possibilities.

The stability of what is taken for granted reduces arousal, maintains emotions within a manageable level, and avoids the need for intensive problem solving. A constant, stable environment with familiar values and reliable predictions of nature and people become the basis for security, certainty and control of life (Warburton, 1979; Hammond, 2000).

The effects of threat and stress

Stress is activated when a person is threatened by the possibility of danger, loss of control, security, predictability, or the disruption of familiar routines. Instinctive mechanisms in the brain and body respond to enhance those functions which assist survival of the threat (Thayer, 1989). Urgency to act quickly to avoid danger intensifies the situation. Various changes to improve physical responses occur including enhanced perception to identify physical threat and danger, reduced reaction times, faster reflexes, as well as increased strength and agility. The intensification of activity is produced by stress hormones such as adrenalin, noradrenalin and cortisol, which create a mental and physical state of activation (Duffy, 1962) or heightened arousal (Gellhorn, 1967; McEwen and Lasley 2002). The term "arousal" refers to the overall activity level of physiological, emotional and behavioural activity (Thayer, 1989), the level of central nervous system activity (Razmjou, 1996) or the basic energetic state of the organism (Stokes and Kite, 2001). In particular, it describes the physiological effect of stress or threat and its mental counterpart (Everly, 1990).

External threat is not the only cause of increased arousal. Departure from the optimum state that cannot be corrected, disruption to expected routines, violation of familiar circumstances, loss of taken for granted assumptions or failure of what was stable and predictable also cause arousal, as do insecurity, uncertainty, unpredictability, unfamiliarity, loss of control or failure of actions (Malmö, 1975; Schönflug, 1983; Sapolsky, 1992; Hammond, 2000).

Uncertainty in anticipation of possible threat elevates arousal before direct threat is evident (Wesnes and Warburton, 1979). Each of these circumstances demand the person to function outside of their comfort zone. Stress hormones are secreted into the blood stream as soon as there is a change from predictable to unpredictable (Frankenhaeuser, 1986). A discrepancy between what is expected and what is experienced results in heightened arousal and reduced ability to make use of the full range of mature mental and physical functions (Warbuton, 1979, Trumbull and Appley, 1986).

However, where expectancies are fulfilled and predictability regained, the stress hormones are suppressed (Frankenhaeuser, 1986). It is important to note that arousal is also increased by worry, helplessness, over-exertion and failure (Schönflug, 1983) as well as by surprise and embarrassment (Wesnes and Warburton, 1979).

Arousal is therefore highly subjective and determined by the person's appraisal of the threat rather than the objective situation (Lazarus and Folkman, 1984; Scherer, Schorr and Johnston, 2001).

Many arousing influences are present during a bushfire. Experience and familiarity will be important determinants of reducing arousal in the face of threat.

The effects of danger

In extreme danger such as combat, it is common for soldiers to become inactive, even in well trained activities such as firing their weapons; however group structure and clear leadership contribute to reduced arousal and social factors such as sense of support and positive attitudes counter the infectiousness of fear (Idzikowski and Badderley, 1983). Experience and competence also reduce arousal, especially for anticipatory anxiety. Novice parachutists showed greatest arousal just before jumping and their sensitivity for sound signals and short term memory were reduced which may compromise performance. Experienced parachutists showed highest arousal before getting into the plane, but were calm on jumping. Those who denied experiencing fear still showed high fear responses in psychological tests, but as they became more experienced, their arousal reduced (Idzikowski and Badderley, 1983).

Arousal has been shown to increase muscular tension (Malmö, 1975). Divers' manual dexterity deteriorated when performing motor tasks at dangerous depths (Idzikowski and Badderley, 1983).

Heightened arousal from fear reduces the capacity to process verbal information and narrows attention onto explicit stimuli directly related to the current situation at the expense of more general information. Where the threat is relevant to a well-practiced role and familiar skills, danger increases performance, but if the danger is unrelated to the role and training, it impairs performance. Arousal also reduces self-awareness in favour of task focus whereas anxiety increases self-awareness and creates competition between self and task, reducing performance.

Response to danger and fear depend on the tendency towards anxiety, assessment of the danger, ability to cope with it and previous exposure to the situation (Idzikowski and Badderley, 1983).

Heightened Arousal

Physiological effects

The physical basis for arousal involves activation of a simultaneous externally oriented enhancement of senses and action, and an internally oriented system to provide energy (McGuiness and Pribram, 1980). Heightened arousal mobilises brain and body. The increased energy for arousal comes from a generalised activation of the autonomic nervous system under the influence of stress hormones such as adrenaline (epinephrine) and noradrenaline (norepinephrine).

Autonomic activation (Duffy, 1962) has two functions: an energy mobilising (ergotropic) function which intensifies the activity of organs supplying energy; and a conserving (trophotropic) function which conserves, rations and redirects energy away from organs not required in responding to the threat in favour of those that are (Gellhorn, 1967; Mandler, 1984, Sapolsky, 2004a).

The energy mobilisation function of arousal enhances physical capacities by increasing respiration, oxygen supply, blood pressure, blood sugar and blood flow to brain and muscles. Efficiency for action is increased by enhancing and orienting the senses towards detecting threatening information, reducing reaction time, improving sensori-motor integration, speeding up the nervous system's capacity to process information and make snap decisions, and boosting energy to the muscles (Gellhorn, 1967; Everly, 1990; Sapolsky, 2004b). Each of these changes is designed to increase the likelihood of survival when confronted with threat.

The conservation function of high arousal redirects blood away from internal organs toward the skeletal muscles and brain, whilst reducing activity in the digestive and reproductive systems and other metabolic functions in favour of action. Immune function is reduced in favour of wound repair (Sapolsky 2004a). Additional resources are provided by withdrawing attention and energy from the balanced distribution across all systems of the comfort zone and concentrating mental and physical capacities towards functions which aid survival (McEwen, 2002). However, this intensification of survival functions also depletes non-emergency oriented capabilities such as rational thought, creative problem solving and lateral thinking dependent on the optimal state of comfort zone (Malmo, 1975).

Effects on the brain

Bodily changes are accompanied by electrical changes in the brain indicating its arousal (Duffy, 1962; Warburton, 1979). Instinctive structures of the brain, including the limbic system, amygdala and hypothalamus, control physiological processes and boost energy release (Gellhorn, 1967, Sapolsky, 2004a). At the same time, these deeper strata of the brain, which normally process familiar information within pre-existing expectations are not adequate to deal with a threat which demands higher order processing (Warburton, 1979). The right frontal lobe is selectively activated to enhance appreciation of relations of objects in space and time with strong connections to emotion-motivation centres; but this occurs at the expense of the left frontal lobe responsible for language, thought, reasoning, analysis, and control mechanisms for bodily and psychic processes that are correspondingly reduced (Schore, 1994; Bremner, 2002).

Effects on emotions

During high arousal, emotions tend to be set aside if possible as interference from them becomes a threat to performance and further increases arousal (Baddeley, 1972; Mandler, 1984). High anxiety increases arousal (Lazarus, 1999) by intensifying the focus on self at a time when the focus needs to be on the threat in the environment; consequently, anxiety provokes psychological conflict and undermines performance (Schönplflug, 1983).

If arousal can be translated into action to reduce the threat, energy is released leading to satisfaction or stabilisation. When this is not possible, tension increases and arousal, not able to be discharged as action, is likely to be transformed into emotion, which further increases arousal. If this is not possible, dissociation and freezing are likely. In high arousal, it is easy for people to become disorganised, impatient and angry with anything not coinciding with their focus, to become overwhelmed and distressed or detached and passive when unable to activate plans and reduce threat. Entering such states will compromise survival.

Effects on attention

In high arousal attention is narrowed onto the threat and required action (Mandler, 1982) and there is decreased focus on peripheral information and context (Hockey, 1979; Ohman, Flykt & Esteves, 2001; Ohman, Lundquist & Esteves, 2001). The sense of time may become slow and distorted. The senses become more acute as arousal increases, but then are less acute when arousal is extreme (Duffy, 1962). The higher the arousal, the more focussed attention becomes, which has been referred to as “tunnelling” of attention onto the threatening features of the environment (Easterbrook, 1959; Williams, Tonymon and Anderson, 1990).

There is also a changed patterning of attention which is indicated by narrowing, reduced focus on peripheral cues, and greater attention to the current focus (Hockey, 1979). Actions that reduce the danger are activated leading to decisions that may fail to take the whole situation into account (e.g., non-consideration of unforeseen events or future possibilities). The capacity to separate signal from background noise is enhanced thereby increasing the ability to detect threat, but the awareness of reassuring information is reduced (Healy, 1993). Attention is diverted away from self, reducing experiences of pain, fatigue, hunger and thirst, and awareness of the broader context is also reduced (Sapolsky, 2004a).

There is a tendency to selectively attend to and remember information related to threat at the expense of reassuring or helpful information (Bernsten, 2002). The effect of high arousal on attention can however be moderated to enhance survival. For example, routines that have been well-practiced and rehearsed are remembered as actions and images rather than verbal lists are more likely to be preserved in high arousal (Staal, 2004).

Effects on cognition and thinking

The whole working of the mind changes in high arousal. The capacity for adaptive and flexible thought is lost as functioning becomes progressively more specialised in the face of threat.

A narrow and rigid focus on the impending emergency develops at the expense of flexibility and adaptability (Duffy, 1962; Janis, 1984; Sapolsky, 2004b). Memory for verbal information (such as a bushfire plan) is also interfered with and if arousal is high enough, such verbal information will be unavailable or not easily retrievable (McEwen, 2002; Staal, 2004; Sapolsky, 2004b). Further, since creative thinking requires making new connections and allowing for imagination by relaxing the current organisation, high arousal reduces the ability to creatively respond to the unexpected (Warburton, 1979).

Rapid processing of information from the senses is gained at the expense of remembering and organising the experience. Retrieving information from memory is reduced in favour of faster processing, which is achieved by clearing old information rapidly in order to receive new information. Consigning information to well-organised explicit memory takes time and resources, which can be saved by dumping it in implicit memory where it is disorganised and not readily available (Posner, 1991). As arousal increases in the face of threat, not only is memory capacity reduced, but complex tasks demanding memory availability are disrupted. By contrast, familiar, routine and rehearsed tasks are more likely to be preserved, even in high arousal, because of their lower working memory requirement (Hockey and Hamilton, 1983). Lower arousal is conducive to effective storage of information, but does not aid processing speed, whereas high arousal contributes to enhanced speed of processing, but inhibits storage of information (Hockey, 1979; Wesnes and Warburton, 1983; Sapolsky, 2004b).

In summary, heightened arousal specialises people for immediate physical survival at the expense of more complex, sophisticated mental skills based on language and rational thinking about longer term consequences. In the event of a bushfire, this specialisation for physical survival is crucial. However, should bushfire preparations be compromised by unanticipated difficulties resulting in increased arousal, the cognitive capabilities needed to overcome the difficulties are likely to be depleted.
